Paul Mueller Company Announces A New Line of Tank Trailers

Paul Mueller Company announced today a new line of tank trailers to serve the petroleum, chemical and sanitary industries.

“With demand outpacing supply for quality tank trailers, we saw the opportunity to combine our 70 years of experience in stationary stainless steel tanks with this new over-the-road trailer product line,” said Gregg Shirey, Director of Industrial Equipment and Product Development for Paul Mueller Company.

The Company is currently producing crude oil and refined fuel trailers, and during 2013 will be adding dry bulk trailers and stainless steel trailers for food, beverage and chemical applications.

The Company’s new product line was recently featured in a Springfield Business Journal article available at <http://www.paulmueller.com/pdfs/misc/SpringfieldBusinessJournal201211.pdf>. For additional information, visit www.paulmueller.com.
